

Ford oil tariff upheld by judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has acknowledged President Ford's $3-per-barrel tariff on oil imports will be damaging to the Northeastern states but has upheld it for national security reasons.

U.S. District Judge John Pratt made the ruling Friday after a hearing in which nine states sought a temporary injunction against the tariff.

Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti, who argued the case for eight Northeastern states and Minnesota, said after the hearing that Pratt's ruling would be appealed.

The ruling came as a victory for the White House after setbacks in Congress, which voted to delay the tariff for 90 days. Ford says he will veto the bill.

In his decision, Pratt said, "We must accept the President's determination of national security upon which his action was predicated."

"Certainly, our continued dependence on imports of foreign oil threatens our national security, the economy, the posture of our defense and the conduct of our foreign affairs," Pratt said.

Bellotti had argued that Ford's national security justification for the tariff, which is legally called a license fee, could not be challenged, but the power under which Ford imposed it could.

"National security cannot be used as a public interest blanket under which everything can be hidden... however he adjusts imports, he must do it within the law... he has not done that," Bellotti said.

Bellotti also began to outline the economic damage to the Northeastern states because of the tariff when Pratt interrupted to say:

"I think you can assume the New England states will suffer irreparable injury," from the tariff.

Bellotti said Treasury Secretary William E. Simon should have conducted public hearings on the tariff before it was imposed and an environmental impact statement should have been filed before it took effect.

But Irwin Goldbloom, lawyer for the government, said a preliminary impact statement had been filed and that a complete one would be filed in May.

As for a hearing, Goldbloom said the law under which Ford acted requires a hearing only if the Treasury secretary deems one appropriate, which Goldbloom said Simon did not.

One dollar of the tariff is in effect, with additional dollars to take effect March 1 and April 1.

The head of the House Ways and Means Committee said in an interview Friday that an acceptable compromise between Congress and Ford would be to leave in effect the $1 but not impose the additional $2.

Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., predicted the House will override the expected Ford veto of the measure rescinding for 90 days the imposition of the tariff. "It's too close to call" in the Senate, he said.

The Putnam County Common Pleas Court dismissed the case, ruling both the board and the teacher were immune from such suits if they were acting in their official capacities and there was no evidence of malice.

The 3rd District Court of Appeals agreed that the board was immune. But it said it was unable to find a specific immunity in law for the teacher, and he therefore was liable for his negligence.

In his appeal, Burkhardt contends the same immunity which is granted to board members and school principals also should extend to teachers.

In another case, the court agreed to review the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association's contention that Kent State University is circumventing the state's civil service laws by hiring private firms to do custodial work.

The OCEA asked for a court order blocking the contract between Kent State and the Aetna Cleaning Contractors of Cleveland, Inc.

Brian Connell. They are counseled by Pat Harkins, a Columbus attorney who has an office in Washington C.H.

Defending the cheerleaders are Tim O'Flynn and David Garringer, who are being advised by John H. Rossmann, Fayette County prosecutor.

The second case has a woman being injured in Buckeye Mart when a 17-year-old boy discharges a firearm while looking at it. Although the woman is not harmed by the shot, it frightens her and she trips over a stereo unit left in the aisle by a clerk. She is asking for damages in the amount of $50,000.

She will be represented by Jeff Lemaster and Dan Rodgers. The student attorneys will be assisted by Washington C.H. city solicitor Gary Smith. Defending the store are Rory Souther and John Walker. They will receive guidance from attorney John Bryan.

OLDEST SCOUT — Scoutmaster Sidney Loman, who will be 95 on Feb. 28, grips the shoulder of Bruce Washington, 11, at ceremonies honoring Loman in San Diego, Calif. He is the son of freed slaves. Loman, who took over his first troop fifty years ago, says, "I'm too old to quit."

Fayette County area residents are reminded that most of the nation will switch back to Daylight Savings Time Sunday, with clocks being moved forward one hour.

The conversion from standard time will occur at 2 a.m. (meaning it will be 3 a.m.) on Sunday.

Daylight Savings Time will be in effect for eight months. Then unless Congress intervenes, the regular alternating pattern of standard time six months and daylight time six months a year will be resumed in October.

GM drops prices by equipment cuts

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors will lower the price tag on nine compact cars next week in the first significant effort by an auto company to reduce the sticker price on a line of cars.

For two months the four U.S. auto makers have been offering limited-time rebates on certain models in an attempt to revive sluggish car sales. Although 13,000 unemployed auto workers will be back on the job next week, 37 per cent of the industry's workforce will be unemployed and 13 assembly plants will remain closed.

GM said the base price on the nine small cars will be cut by up to $313 by eliminating some standard equipment in an effort to boost sales when rebate programs end on Feb. 28.

"We are responding to an economy-minded public by offering nine of our smaller cars with less standard equipment," GM Chairman Thomas Murphy said in Chicago. Base prices will be lower by $104 to $313.

He said the price cuts will "give our customers the chance to buy as much or as little car as their pocketbooks will allow."

Orders for the cars will be taken now with delivery beginning in March, he said.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor Co. production schedules released Friday called for an additional 6,400 layoffs.

Coffee Break...

THE WASHINGTON Senior High School vocal music department's concert, originally scheduled to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Washington C.H. Middle School auditorium, has been cancelled.

The concert, entitled "Happiness is Making Music," was cancelled because the Washington C.H. Blue Lion basketball team will be playing Federal Hocking in the Class AA sectional tournament at Unioto High School.

Putnam County school injury case studied by high court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to review the question of when a public school teacher is liable for injuries to his students.

The court agreed Friday to accept the appeal of a Putnam County teacher who was found personally liable for injuries to a pupil in a shop class accident.

The teacher, David Burkhardt, contends he's immune to such lawsuits, unless they involve deliberate or malicious injuries.

The appeal stems from a suit brought by McArthur Salyers, an adult education student, against Burkhardt and the board of education of the Continental Local School District in Putnam County.

Salyers was injured in 1971 in an explosion during a welding class. In his suit, he contended the classroom and equipment were unsafe, and said he should have been warned about the dangerous conditions.

Portion of mock lawsuit nixed

Washington C.H. City Council member John E. Rhoads lost a chance at a half million dollars Saturday morning when Judge Evelyn W. Coffman ruled that the Washington C.H. Board of Education cannot be sued for negligence.

Actually, Rhoads is only cast in the role of a parent suing for damages, and the $5 million he is seeking to recover is no more real than the lawsuit or the law degrees of the attorneys in the case.

The civil cases being heard Saturday are part of a project promoted by Washington Senior High School Hi-Y Club members. They are mock trials of damage suits "dreamed up" by the club. The purpose of the project is to acquaint the students with the workings of the American judicial system.

Circumstances surrounding the two civil actions have been prepared by the participants and will be presented to student jurors by student attorneys. They are receiving assistance from local attorneys in preparing and presenting their cases.

Rhoads is playing the part of a father whose son had been injured when the cheerleaders threw plastic footballs into the stands during a high school game. The father had filed suit for damages of one-half million dollars from the parents of each of the school's seven cheerleaders, the cheerleading advisor, the president of the booster's club and the board of education, a total of $5 million in all.

Before the proceedings got underway, however, Judge Coffman ruled that the board of education cannot be sued for negligence because of protection under sovereign immunity, thereby eliminating a half million dollars from the suit.

Democrat opposition to Rhodes sales tax increase plan grows

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $2.5 billion bond proposal to revitalize Ohio cities through an increase in the state sales tax has emerged as the most controversial issue in Gov. James A. Rhodes' four-part legislative package.

Democratic opposition to a seven-tenths of a cent increase in the four per cent state sales tax appeared to be building Friday as the resolution got a second hearing in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Democratic-controlled legislature must approve the plan and the governor's programs for housing, industry and transportation by March 5 to qualify them for voter consideration on the June 3 primary ballot.

Director of Transportation Richard Jackson stumped Friday for the $1.6 billion transportation bond program which has received some favorable reaction among Democratic leaders.

"Without a new finance plan for transportation in Ohio," Jackson warned, "residents will have their transportation dollars going solely into maintaining the present system."

Approval of the Rhodes plan, he asserted, would mean 44 highway projects could be started by mid-summer in 33 counties. The work would provide 20,000 new jobs, he said.

The transportation plan, which would be financed by a nine-tenths of a cent increase in the seven-cent-per-gallon state gasoline tax, goes before the Senate Judiciary Committee for a first hearing Monday.

The city-oriented bond issue was considered Friday for a second time by the House Ways and Means Committee. After the hearing, committee chairman George Tablack, D-52 Campbell, predicted "this particular proposal that we have before us will never pass."

Tablack said the sales tax increase "would probably be the last source of revenue that I would look to to fund it." But he suggested that alternative financing methods could be considered by the committee, including adjustments in the upper brackets of the state income tax and increases in corporate taxes.

Testifying before the committee, Director of Economic and Community Development James Duerk said "If you can improve it in any way shape or form, we're open to suggestions."

However, Thomas Moyer, a legislative assistant to Rhodes, told newsmen the administration was not yet ready to back away from the sales tax boost. Rhodes had campaigned on promises of no new or increased taxes.

Tablack also cited two other "real sore spots" for Democrats. The plan would create a five-member Republican-controlled Central Cities Development Authority to administer urban capital improvement programs, and would also give the GOP a majority on the Sinking Fund Commission.

Democrats currently hold a 3-2 edge on that board.

The governor's urban development plan received support from three Ohio mayors during hearings Friday.

Republican Mayor Tom Moody of Columbus, noted it would permit local governments to use the bond money for profit-making ventures. "It's simply an enabling tool to let us do things that we've done for years," he said. "I don't see any ghosts in this."

And Richard Porter, the Republican mayor of Mansfield, said: "We must recognize and face the fact that we must tax ourselves to obtain this." But he expressed reservations about any income tax increases.

The Democratic mayor of Athens, Donald L. Barrett, said he wanted to see the Rhodes plan on the ballot, but asked the legislators to remember "that a large chunk of the state does not live in the 10 or 11 major cities."

It would appear there is a tremendous focus on our large cities," he said.

He also questioned whether extensive plans for port development in Ohio River cities was wise "when maybe we ought to get on with our energy program."

Tablack's committee will give further consideration to the proposal Monday night. He predicted it could be ready for floor action as early as mid-week.

The housing proposal, clarifying and expanding the state's authority to issue mortgage revenue bonds, will get a second hearing Monday.

Ehrlichman's bid to work with Indians turned down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Instead of going to jail for his Watergate conviction, former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman wanted to fight for the rights of impoverished New Mexico Indians.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica turned him down Friday and sentenced him to 2½ to 8 years in prison.

Given the same sentence in the Watergate cover-up were H. R. Haldeman and John N. Mitchell, also former top-level aides of former President Richard M. Nixon. A fourth former Nixon aide, Robert C. Mardian, received a prison term of 10 months to three years.

Appeals to higher courts, expected to take about two years, are planned by all four men. They remain free pending final rulings.

Before the sentencing, a lawyer for Ehrlichman proposed that the judge put Ehrlichman to work for eight Indian pueblos with 6,000 people, putting ting to work his legal expertise in land-use law.

"He is one of the few specialists in this country in land-use law," said attorney Ira M. Lowe. And, he added, that is precisely the help the Indians need.

As Nixon's top domestic adviser, Ehrlichman worked on Indian affairs. He was influential in winning increased land and money benefits in the Alaska Native Claims settlement and worked on behalf of the Taos Blue Lake Pueblo in New Mexico.

Nixon attends party tonight; first since his resignation

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — One day after four of his former aides were sentenced to jail in the Watergate case, Richard M. Nixon is scheduled to make his first social appearance since resigning the presidency.

Nixon is to attend a party tonight honoring him and his wife, Pat. It will be at the secluded and guarded desert estate of Walter Annenberg, former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and longtime Nixon friend.

There was no public comment from the former president about the sentencing on Friday of the four former aides. A telephone operator at his seaside villa in San Clemente said no statement was planned.

Top Nixon aides John N. Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were given 2½ to 8-year sentences for the Watergate cover-up conspiracy. Robert C. Mardian, former assistant attorney general, received a 10-month to 3-year sentence.

Nixon, who is 62, had been subpoenaed by Ehrlichman and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski to testify in the cover-up trial.

However, Nixon's doctors said the former chief executive was too ill to travel because of the phlebitis that led to surgery and an extended hospital stay.

Three court-appointed doctors examined Nixon and concluded late last November that he was not "presently able to travel to Washington D.C. to testify" and he was later excused from testifying.

Nixon's testimony was also sought by the other three defendants sentenced Friday.

Haldeman's defense attorney, John J. Wilson, noted the pardon from Watergate prosecution granted Nixon by President Ford and said "whatever Bob Haldeman did, so did Richard Nixon."

"This is not to say that Nixon has not suffered agony and punishment of a kind," Wilson said. "But while Bob Haldeman was not toppled from the highest office in the land, he was toppled from the highest office he had achieved."

He added that the former president's White House chief of staff faced "the possibility of suffering far more than Richard Nixon will ever suffer."

The Nixons have been vacationing at the Annenberg estate since Wednesday.

Jurors return guilty verdict

A jury of six men and two women deliberated for one hour Friday afternoon in Washington C.H. Municipal Court before returning a guilty verdict against a London man charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Terry A. Cozad, 26, London, was charged with driving while intoxicated after he was arrested Nov. 3, 1974 on Interstate 71 in Jefferson Township by an Ohio Highway Patrol officer.

Judge Omar A. Schwartz fined the defendant $200 and sentenced him to the mandatory three-day jail sentence and 30-day suspension of his driver's license following the verdict.

Ptl. Roger Schafer, the arresting officer and key witness for the state during the one-day trial, testified Friday he had arrested the defendant after observing his vehicle being driven in an "erratic" pattern on the highway and once stopping the vehicle, smelling the odor of alcoholic beverages on the defendant's person.

Ptl. Schafer stated he had operated the redlights and spot light of the cruiser, along with blowing the horn and sounding the siren, before the defendant pulled his vehicle off the road to stop approximately two miles after Ptl. Schafer first turned on the cruiser's red lights.

The defendant was placed under arrest and brought to the Washington C.H. Police department where he underwent sobriety and breathalyzer tests. According to testimony given by Ptl. Schafer, who was present for the testing, the defendant did not satisfactorily pass the performance tests.

Only three witnesses were called to present testimony for the state, represented by Washington C.H. city solicitor Gary D. Smith. Besides Ptl. Schafer, Capt. Charles Foster of the Washington C.H. police department testified he had calibrated the breathalyzer machine and Police Specialist Dennis Brown stated he was the senior operator who had administered the actual breathalyzer test to the defendant.

However, a motion to disallow the breathalyzer test results into evidence by defense attorney John C. Bryan was granted after the state could not show a chain of evidence once the results had been taken to the Ohio Highway Patrol post in Wilmington.

In the closing arguments, Bryan stated that although the defendant had admitted to drinking two beers earlier in the evening and had operated a vehicle "somewhat erratically," it did not give rise to the assumption that the defendant was driving under the influence of alcohol.

Smith concluded his case by recalling the testimony of Ptl. Schafer in stating that the defendant had not pulled his vehicle off the road until approximately two miles after the red cruiser lights were first operated, and noting the appearance of the defendant and the unsatisfactory results of the performance tests conducted at the Washington C.H. police station.

Ford defends pentagon budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford contends his $92.8-billion defense budget, a record high, is a bare-bones minimum "to assure the security of this nation in an insecure world."

Ford defended the request Friday night in a speech to the Reserve Officers Association of the United States, which presented him with its "Minuteman of the Year" award.

The President said that when measured in actual spending power, his budget request is more than one-third below the peak Vietnam war period. Ford said he was "determined to maintain our military strength" and "those who tell us that we must substantially cut the cost of defense also must acknowledge the risk involved."

BYE BYE CONRAD — Conrad Birdie, renowned rock star of the 1950s portrayed by Tim O'Flynn (standing on table) is being required by Uncle Sam to take a leave of absence from music mania and join the Army. The play, "Bye, Bye Birdie" will be presented by the students of Washington

Senior High School at 8 p.m. April 11 and 12 in the Middle School auditorium. Tickets will go on sale at the high school before and after classes and at Patton's Office Supply on Saturdays.

Musical slated here April 11-12

'Bye, Bye Birdie' scheduled

Although most of the actors were just learning to walk during the 1950s, let alone rock and roll, the students of Washington Senior High School are going to present a nostalgic look into that bygone era of Elvis Presley, bobby socks, L.S.M.F.T., and teenage guys with big biceps from constantly doing an exercise called "combing their hair," when they present the musical production "Bye, Bye Birdie."

The story revolves around a dilemma which finds Conrad Birdie (renowned rock star portrayed by Tim O'Flynn) drafted, and his agent (Albert Peterson played by Bryan Connell) frantically trying to pay off a $50,000 contract he holds with Birdie before Birdie is required to warble "hut 2-3-4" in Uncle Sam's band. Sounds a lot like what happened to Elvis in real life during that era, doesn't it?

Anyway, Albert finds a solution - a very commercial one to get up the money and break in the black with "the king," intermixed with many comical situations.

Emily King is in charge of vocal direction. Charles Shaffer is rehearsing the orchestra and Carmen Johnson is dreaming up dance routines.

Costuming is under the direction of Helge Dopple and makeup, under Kathy Lee.

Student actors and their parts include:

Tim O'Flynn, Conrad Birdie; Bryan

Symphony jazz ensemble sets Wilmington concert

The Symphony Jazz Ensemble, which has evolved over the past few years from a jazz quartet of Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra musicians, will present the second of three concerts in this year's Area Artist Series in Wilmington. The concert will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Locust Street Junior High School.

In Wilmington the ensemble will perform "Expletive Deleted" and "Harrenzonns Return" by Frank Proto, Lorenz Hart's "With a Son in My Heart" and "Hot Ice" by Frank Proto, piano and bass player for the group. Following intermission the Symphony Jazz Ensemble will present Proto's "Hi Rise", Paul Piller's "Four Arrows", "My One and Only Love" by Norbert Ludwig and "John Browns Body" by Frank Proto and Frank Vincent.

During the summer and fall of 1966, while the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra was on a 10-week tour around the world, a group of orchestra members, quite by accident, found themselves in the same night club in a Bombay hotel listening to a local band make its way through some of the latest American pop tunes. During intermission, the orchestra members engaged in conversation with the local musicians, and no one really knows how it happened, but when the band returned to the stage for their next set, Marie Speziale, with borrowed trumped in hand, was standing next to their saxophone player, Dave Frerichs had replaced their drummer and Frank

Proto was sitting at the piano. The two hour jam session that followed made many new friends and probably did a good bit for international relations between the United States and India. Not so much by accident, the scene was repeated in Taipei, Taiwan, Okinawa, Tokyo and Ngoya, Japan; and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, each time attracting more people and becoming more and more elaborate.

Upon returning to the U.S., it was learned that one of the reporters traveling with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra to review its concerts, had filed several stories concerning the happenings in various Far Eastern night clubs with jazz players from the Orchestra. A small college in Kentucky asked if the group would appear on its concert series and with Bob Bradley, who joined the group somewhere between Singapore and Hong Kong, the Symphony Jazz Quartet was born. Later that season, when Paul Piller joined the Orchestra, the group expanded to become the Symphony Jazz Quintet. In 1973 the group expanded again to become the Symphony Jazz Septet. The group has again expanded and is now the Symphony Jazz Ensemble featuring Frank Brown, trumpet and trombone; Mike Andres, saxophones and flutes; Paul Piller, trombone; Larry Dickson, saxophones and clarinets; Frank Vincent, piano; Frank Proto, piano and bass; Jim Seward, drums; and Bill Platt, percussion.

Twister kills four in Oklahoma town

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — Four persons were killed and at least 40 injured early today when rare February tornadoes barreled through southwestern Oklahoma.

One woman and her son were killed when a twister blasted Altus, damaging or destroying about 100 mobile homes and knocking out the city's electrical service. Thirty-six persons were treated for injuries at Altus and two were reported in critical condition.

Another person died when a storm lashed the Mountain Park area, about 25 miles east of Altus, and authorities reported at least one death at Duncan, about 85 miles southeast of Altus.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said the Duncan death was caused by a tornado-related fire.

There was no immediate identification of the dead.

Altus and other towns hit by twisters or violent winds began receiving heavy snow, hampering rescue efforts.

Much of the damage at Altus was near Altus Air Force Base, and the base clinic treated many of the injured. Altus asked its neighboring city in southwest Oklahoma, Frederick, for additional ambulances and rescue equipment.

Mrs. Godden died Wednesday in the Williamson Nursing Home, Washington C.H., after being in failing health several months.

Pallbearers for burial in Brown's Chapel Cemetery near Clarksburg were Don Hyer, Joe and Dick Asher, Lincoln Schwart, Danny Kirkpatrick and Carl Steinhauer Jr.

said the Altus woman and her son were reported dead at separate hospitals. In addition to the fatality at Mountain Park, at least one person was reported critically injured. Six to eight trailers were reported destroyed there.

Several injuries were reported at Duncan, where authorities said a tornado lashed the south side of town. U.S. 81 through the city was blocked by power lines.

There was some damage at Lawton, about 35 miles southwest of Duncan, and five mobile homes were reported destroyed at nearby Geronimo.

Other towns hit by violent weather were the southwestern Oklahoma communities of Marlow, Comanche and Cooperton and Purcell in the south central part of the state. Heavy damage to a trailer park was reported at Purcell.

A growing winter storm blanketed parts of the Southwest under heavy snow today and triggered thunderstorms from Texas to Illinois. Far to the north, another storm churned up near-blizzard conditions in northern and west-central Minnesota and North Dakota and brought out travel advisories.

Heavy-snow warnings remained up for the southern half of New Mexico. Eight inches of snow covered Cloudcroft, N.M., through Friday and 4 inches fell on Ruidoso. In Arizona, a 7-inch fall hit Heber and 3 inches whitened Grand Canyon.

The snow prompted travel advisories for much of West Texas as well as sections of Arizona and New Mexico. A winter-storm watch was issued for the Texas Panhandle and the high plains of West Texas.

Thunderstorms scattered rain from northern Texas to southern Illinois during the night.

Opinion And Comment

Appetite for the notorious

A newspaper columnist has made a noteworthy point about the hullabaloo over big lecture fees for Ronald Ziegler and John W. Dean III. The fact that they are cashing in handsomely on the college circuit has brought much breast-beating about the irony of it all. Bob Greene comments that, in essence, we bring such things on ourselves and thus should not complain.

He is right. Ziegler and Dean are able to command large sums of money for their appearances because there is an audience out there. It is arguably not an audience which experts enlightenment or fresh insights into Watergate, or moral elevation. People want to hear Ziegler and Dean, we suspect, because they are curious. As Greene writes, "This is a country that loves stars, any kind of stars, the more notorious the better."

Richard M. Nixon's former White House press secretary, and his counsel who spilled the beans about the Watergate coverup, are notorious. That, and not their capacity to entertain or enlighten, is what makes them interesting enough to be paid from $1,500 to $4,000 for a single appearance.

We do not favor banning these two from college platforms, as has been done in some cases. For one thing, that merely gives them more publicity and whets the appetite of prospective audiences elsewhere. The only effective way to protest, while still not inhibiting their rights of free speech, is to stay away when they appear.

Some will do this, but more probably will continue flocking to the lecture halls. The phenomenon of Dean and Ziegler making profitable tours can be expected to continue until the consuming public desire to view these notorious Watergate figures at first hand is satisfied.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 23

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to April 20)

Personal matters may need revising. Look for better answers. A state of readiness needed to cope with the unexpected.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

If plans prove unfitting, not quite feasible, change them — with no regrets. But do not make drastic changes without cause.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Most endeavors should prosper, but think before you speak or act. Above all, avoid tendencies toward the unorthodox; to extremes in general.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Once you know your ideas have good potentialities for success, lose no time in trying to bring to realization. Good lunar influences should help you.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

In dealings with others, don't resort to brevity or abruptness of speech when full explanations are truly needed. Do your best to really "communicate."

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Especially favored now: personal relationships, avocational interests, travel and outdoor pursuits. A good day!

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A day which should lift your spirits considerably. Personal relationships should be highly congenial, with romance accented during the p.m. hours.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

A good day for planning next week's program. Be especially astute in mapping out budget requirements. You may be faced with some unforeseen expenses.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Beneficent stellar influences now encourage all your endeavors — especially those along creative lines. An interesting communication indicated.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Some misunderstandings possible in unexpected areas. Counteract with poise, tact and a sincere desire to clear the air.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Suggestions from friends or business associates could prove valuable now. In leisure time, shun social events which could impose too much of a strain on you.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Be careful in whom you confide and respect confidence given you. Some tendencies toward mischief-making prevalent.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly versatile individual, with certain characteristics almost alien to other Signs. A Piscean, governed by Neptune, you have an intense love of the sea and everything connected with it.

Also, you are extremely perceptive, possessing almost a "sixth sense" which, coupled with your many talents, can be an invaluable factor in your success pattern. It tells you when to move, when to "stay put."

Further, it gives you a more-than-ordinary interest in the occult, and many Pisceans are known for their clairvoyant powers. Your personality is a magnetic one and others follow you willingly. Thus you have a great responsibility toward them. Will you lead UP or DOWN?

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

A spirited day, even taxing at moments. But then, Arians know how to benefit by advantages and hurdle the obstacles — often in the most unexpected ways.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Good Venus influences now stimulate your inspiration, ideas for a new strategy with which to attain objectives. Romance under especially beneficent aspects.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid a tendency toward indifference. Rewards will be commensurate with the efforts you expend. Keep your own counsel in personal affairs.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You don't need to look afar for best returns. They will come from within your immediate surroundings and, perhaps, through some "unlikely" persons. A good day!

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Mixed influences. Be careful not to speak out of turn, and don't press too forcefully for what you want when a few well-chosen words will do the trick.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Take constructive action on a project which you may have had in mind for some time. With good preparation, you should be able to put it over now.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Quite unexpectedly, you may be afforded the chance to do something "different," attain a surer foothold on the ladder to success. Keep alert and ready to act.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Do not let problems or discussions grow out of proportion. Hold yourself in check, especially if dealing with superiors, business associates.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Stellar influences on the mild side. You are just about on your own to decide, act, work out new tactics, but don't waste time on nonessentials.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Saturn influences fine! Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions involving future activities.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A different approach rather than a complete change of objective may be the keynote to day's success. Take time to think things out, to absorb details.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

A little more restraint may be needed to improve your chances for gain now. Don't force issues and DO prepare well. Romance and travel favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a remarkable memory and truly extraordinary intuitive powers. The latter gives you the ability to act quickly — and correctly — in emergencies; also acts as a springboard in determining your course as you pursue your life goals.

When the Piscean develops his best qualities there is no height which he cannot attain but, if indifferent or content with the mediocre, he can easily slip into extremely bad habits — becoming indolent, self-indulgent, vacillating and excessive in his pursuit of pleasure. Here self-mastery is a must. Properly disciplined, Pisceans become outstanding writers, musicians, sculptors, leaders in maritime affairs and statesmen.

Federal welfare grants slashed by $97.2 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration has cut family welfare grants to the states by $97.2 million for the first quarter of this year in a continuing campaign against ineligible and overpaid recipients, it was learned today.

Another massive reduction totaling millions of dollars is due in April, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said. The latest cuts come on top of the $61.7 million withheld during the last half of 1974.

The cutbacks mean that states must either weed out more ineligible and overpaid recipients or dig into their state treasuries to pay welfare checks through March 31.

The nationwide figures from HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service are contained in "working papers" which have not been released to the states. Each state has been told how much it is losing during the first three months of this year but that information has not been made public by state welfare departments in many cases.

HEW said the amounts of the reductions are based on states' estimates of how much they could save by correcting errors in the huge Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program and additional penalties levied by Washington for failing to meet federal goals.

New York was the big loser in the allocations for the first quarter. It was hit with what HEW called "improvements and adjustments" totaling $27 million.

Other big reductions were $10.7 million in Illinois, $9.5 million in Pennsylvania, $7.2 million in California and $5 million in Ohio.

All states incurred cuts in funds to help pay AFDC recipients for the first quarter except Nevada, Montana and South Carolina. HEW said the latter two states are being reviewed.

HEW did not provide a breakdown on how much of the $97.2 million reduction was voluntarily shouldered by the states and how much was in the form of federal penalties. Of the $61.7 million withheld last year, only $18.2 million represented estimates by the states of how much they could save.

AFDC rolls last October, the last month for which figures are available, totaled 10,850,000 persons and were edging upward as unemployment increased across the country.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Leroy and Laurie and the birds and the bees

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a 13 year-old boy to father a child? Our neighbor claims that Leroy, our 13-year-old son, got Laurie, their 15-year-old daughter, pregnant.

Leroy has always been big for his age, but he never was a run-around, and he hardly ever looked at a girl. He has never been in any kind of trouble. He's a good student and an altar boy at church.

Leroy said he fooled around with Laurie "some" but he wasn't the only one. Laurie says she is sure Leroy is the one, but she admitted to having given in to three other boys.

Laurie refuses to have an abortion because it's against her religion. She is a very religious girl and always said she wanted to be a nun.

We don't know where to turn, Abby. If it's our son's baby, we want to do the right thing, but if it isn't, we don't see why we should be stuck with the responsibility, expense and so on. Can you help us?

MISSISSIPPI MESS

DEAR MESS: First, you need some legal advice. If you can't afford a lawyer, consult your local Legal Aid Society. Then get some counseling from your clergyman, Family Service and/or Planned Parenthood office. It is obvious that both Leroy and Laurie need to know a lot more about the birds and the bees and PEOPLE than they know. What kids don't know CAN hurt them.

DEAR ABBY: I got into a terrible fight with a telephone operator. I couldn't get my party, so I dialed the operator and asked her to help me get the number. She was very rude, and said: "Why don't you learn how to speak English?"

I know how to speak English Abby. I was born in Pine Bluff Arkansas, and lived there until eight months ago, when I moved to California.

When this operator insulted me I asked her what her name was because I was so angry I wanted to report her to the supervisor. She said she wasn't allowed to give out her name, and before I could say another word, she disconnected me.

How can a person report a discourteous telephone operator if she refuses to give you her name?

INSULTED IN CALIF.

DEAR INSULTED: Ask the telephone operator for her "number." (Each operator has one.) If she refuses to give it to you and hangs up, call back and ask for the supervisor. You may not be able to identify the operator against whom you have the complaint, but it's worth a try.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 17. Her father (from whom I am divorced) bought her car of her own, and ever since she's had that car her grades have gone down, and she has gotten so disrespectful and independent I can't handle her.

She drives off to school in the morning and sometimes I don't see her until 10 P.M. When I ask her where she's been, she says, "Oh, just goofing around."

How can I get her back in line? The car is hers so I can't take it away from her.

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The key to the situation fits the car. As long as your daughter is under legal age, you are responsible for her. Ground her until her grades come up. And YOU set the rules about when she's expected home.

DEAR ABBY: When a woman complained because her husband wanted her affectionate attentions at odd times you said: "Shoot the ducks when they are flying." Wonderful advice!

My wife is 62 and so am I. She is full of pep and still works fulltime, and she shoots the ducks while they are flying. And if they aren't flying, she hunts them out!

Sign me...
THE HAPPIEST MAN IN THE WORLD

P.S. The only time she gets angry with me is when I tickle the bottom of her feet. She is a little overweight, so there are plenty of other places to tickle her. I hope you don't think we are crazy.

DEAR HAPPY: If you're crazy, what this world needs is more crazy people.

Female pilot loses job

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—The Navy's first woman pilot, Lt. Judy Neuffer of Wooster, will no longer fly in the eyes of hurricanes when the Navy dismantles her squadron, the Hurricane Hunters.

The Navy will eliminate the weather watch unit April 15 because of changing priorities and the sagging economy.

Authorities said the Air Force has assumed more responsibility for gathering weather data and more reliance is being placed on satellites.

Last September, the 26-year-old lieutenant became the first female pilot to fly into the eye of a hurricane where winds reach 175 miles an hour.

Ohio to receive water cleanup funds

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio will receive $266.2 million in federal water cleanup funds because of the Supreme Court decision this week ordering release of impounded funds, according to Francis Mayo, Midwest director of the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Households declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average size of the nation's households has dipped below the three-person level for the first time in history, as more people than ever before are living alone, the Census Bureau says.

The bureau said Thursday the trend could be attributed to numerous factors: smaller families, more effective means of birth control, a rise in the average age of marriage and "changing attitudes regarding the expansion of the roles of women beyond those of wife and mother."

Households — defined by Census as any group of persons occupying a single housing unit — have declined steadily in average size from more than five persons per unit in the late 1970s to 2.9 persons in the latest survey, taken last March.

Household size had stabilized at about the 3.3-person average during the baby boom after World War II but resumed its decline in the mid-1960s.

Magnifying glasses for voters urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Magnifying glasses would be chained into every voting booth in the state under a proposal Rep. C. J. McLin, D-36 Dayton, introduced in the House this week.

Consumers hold back outlays

NEW YORK (AP) — One thing that the high inflation and interest rates have done is to rout demand. All through the marketplace the evidence of retreat is visible—in stocks, the retail sales level, the savings rate.

At the beginning of this week the stocks in the Dow Jones industrial average were selling at only 7.4 times their earnings, compared to ratios just under 20 during boom times.

Merely by returning to "normal," the price-earnings ratio would mean a doubling of stock prices, which is one of the reasons some large institutions have finally committed themselves to buying.

Whether it continues depends upon how much confidence lies behind the figures. At a ratio of 7.4 per cent, confidence obviously is very low. Now the market has to discover if the ratio is justified.

The smothering of demand is clearly visible in the level of retail sales, which appear higher than a year ago but which really aren't. They are way off.

The illusion of improvement results solely from inflation. In one week this month, for example, retail sales were 5 per cent higher than a year ago. But that turns into a minus of the same size when discounted for inflation.

A lowering of purchasing demand is an obvious consequence of falling buying power and rising unemployment, but the decline has been even more pronounced by an increase in the savings rate.

In the fourth quarter of the year the savings rate leaped from 6.6 per cent all the way to 8.5, the apparent result of already insecure workers cutting their spending as low as possible.

Based on at least one set of figures, disposable after-tax income, consumers were in a position to keep those retail purchases higher. They chose not to do so.

Industry also is choosing not to spend. There is no magic in the decline of the prime lending rates — and in fact, most interest rates. It isn't that there's an overflow of money; the Federal Reserve hasn't been that generous.

Bankers tell you they're lowering lending rates because potential borrowers just aren't showing any inclination to borrow. Just a few months ago, you may remember, precisely the opposite condition existed.

Further confirmation that demand has been routed comes from the polls of consumers and business purchasing agents. Both have become conservers rather than spenders. To not buy has become a goal.

While this was indeed a desirable goal when the emphasis was on fighting inflation, it isn't in terms of fighting recession.

Hopeful News in Medicine:

Speaking of Your Health...

Arteriosclerosis: Better Controls

People who have a tendency to accumulate cholesterol and develop arteriosclerosis now have hope for better control of this problem.

Until now, diets high in polyunsaturated fats have been the accepted way to control high cholesterol levels.

Scientists at the Simon Stevin Research Institute in Bruges, Belgium, have been using soybean lecithin to reduce fats and cholesterol in the blood.

A significant lowering of lipids and lipo-proteins, which are considered basic causes of arteriosclerosis, occurs. Lecithin taken from the soybean, is considered to be "super-unsaturated."

The heart-lung machine and the kidney machine, both valuable life-savers, have another teammate.

Dr. Thomas Chang, at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, has developed a technique which may eventually be called the "liver machine." By this method, toxic substances from the liver, normally difficult to remove, may be eliminated.

This liver-cleansing technique will be particularly valuable in saving the lives of people who have tried to commit suicide by taking overdoses of drugs.

The method, still in its infancy, cleans the blood as it picks up these toxic substances in the liver. The blood passes through activated charcoal, gives up its toxins, and continues to function normally.

This new method is being tried in other countries, including the United States and England.

Ultrasound, already in use for many purposes in medicine, now is being tried for the early detection of cancer of the breast.

Dr. Gilbert Baum, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, can detect with ultrasound the earliest changes in breast tissue. With this scanning technique added to mammography and thermography, the possibilities keep increasing for the earliest possible detection of breast cancer.

Herein lies the reason for the substantial increase in the statistics of survival that now exist in cases of breast cancer.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 229

The meeting of Boy Scout Troop 229 was called to order and the topic of discussion was the recent trip to the Center of Science and Industry, Columbus.

We had a pre-arranged tour starting with a tour of a coal mine, and it was very interesting, and a good display showing coal mining in the past and present.

Our next stop was the planetarium, where we saw the evening sky and the different constellations. We also saw slides on Jupiter and heard a lecture on the possibility of life on that planet.

After a brief lunch period, we saw a demonstration on the effects of smoking and drugs. Different animals were shown, as well as the drugs that affected some of them. A smoking machine was demonstrated, showing what goes into a smokers lungs.

Our last stop was an old-time nickelodeon theater. We saw an "Our Gang" comedy entitled "Bedtime Worries."

County CAC wins antipoverty grant

COLUMBUS — Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development director James A. Duerk today announced a $24,597 grant to the Fayette County Community Action Commission in Washington C.H. House for antipoverty activities in the county.

The grant will be supplemented locally with $6,149.

The funds will be used to provide transportation to the senior nutrition program, increase the number of children served in the day care center, and support other programs.

The grant is part of a special $3 million allocation by the Ohio legislature to the state's 48 Community Action Agencies to support activities authorized under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The State Controlling Board recently voted to release the money.

The agency will receive 25 per cent of the grant immediately and the rest by June. The amount of the grant was determined by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, the State Economic Opportunity Office.

Police officer's coffee break interrupted by assault case

Shortly after midnight Friday Washington C. H. Ptl. Larry Mongold was enjoying a cup of coffee at Firsch's Restaurant when he was interrupted by screams coming from the kitchen portion of the building.

As he looked up, a woman came running from the kitchen area bleeding heavily from the nose and mouth. A man came running immediately behind her and was held by Mongold.

The young woman, Joyce M. Ward, 18, of 640½ S. Fayette St., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was treated for multiple cuts and bruises. Her assailant was identified as her husband, Danny L. Ward, and arrested on a charge of assault.

Interviews with employees disclosed that the couple had been engaged in a domestic quarrel on the parking lot. Apparently Ward began striking his wife, and she ran through the back door of the kitchen where Ward continued his assault.

His wife then broke away for a second time and ran to the restaurant area where Mongold was seated.

Whether or not Mongold ever finished his cup of coffee was not reported.

Seek pilot in river

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Dragging operations were to resume today in search of the body of the pilot and wreckage of a plane that crashed into the Ohio River here Friday.

Authorities said the pilot, identified by the Federal Aviation Administration as Bud Mayo of Columbus, apparently was the only person aboard the twin-engine plane.

Mayo was believed to have drowned after he managed to climb out of the craft.

Witnesses said he climbed on top of the plane as it was sinking, either jumped or fell into the water and disappeared under the strong current.

James Hammonds, supervisor of the Portsmouth city garage, said he saw the plane come down at treetop level with both engines shut off and glide into the river.

The FAA said Mayo had radioed the Tri-State Airport tower at Huntington, W. Va., that he was going to circle Portsmouth before landing.

Councilmen vote under duress

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—City councilmen drew straws to determine who would vote yes to qualify the city for federal flood insurance required so homeowners can obtain insured bank loans on flood prone land.

The council said it felt coerced by the federal government that said the city must okay the program in order for the residents to receive the loans. Councilmen wanted to all vote no.

But, to make sure the city was eligible for the insured bank loans, council cut some straws and the final vote was 4-3 in favor.

Two sunny, mild days have set the stage for a wet weekend. A cold front moving across the Midwest was forecast to pass across Ohio this afternoon and tonight.

A few showers, mainly in central and southern Ohio, were expected to mark the passage of the front tonight. More general rain was likely to spread over the state later tonight and Sunday.

Cloudiness began to develop over Ohio Friday night, but many sections, especially in the southeast, remained clear. Temperatures were in the 30s and low 40s.

The coldest section of the state was in the southeastern counties, where the temperature was near freezing at dawn today.

A gradual turn to cooler weather will follow passage of the front, with temperatures in the 40s over most of the state on Sunday.

A chance of rain or snow Monday and Tuesday and a chance of showers Wednesday. Highs mostly in the 40s. Lows from the mid 20s to the low 30s.

Milk price rise expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail milk costs are rising again and probably will be at record levels in another month or two if recent government price actions to help dairy farmers are passed along to consumers.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said Friday that a half-gallon of milk in January sold in retail stores for an average of 79.4 cents nationally. That was one penny below the all-time high of 80.4 cents last May.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department says milk production still is in the doldrums because farmers have reduced cow herds in order to save on rising feed costs and shows little sign of a major recovery soon.

"We can expect to see some further rise in retail dairy prices, but certainly it will be more moderate than in early 1974," the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Friday.

Congress approved a hefty raise in government price supports for milk but the measure was vetoed on Jan. 3 by President Ford. Later the same day, however, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz announced a smaller increase as a compromise to help financially strapped milk producers.

The new figures showed the January price of a half-gallon of milk was up two-tenths of a cent from December. But since there is a lag in applying the price support increase the January retail figure did not reflect all of it.

One official said the full impact of the price support increase will be felt at the farm level and passed on at least partly to consumers this month and in March and April.

The department's report said "retail dairy prices likely will rise more slowly than food prices generally" in the early months of 1975.

Drug possession charge is filed

A Marion man has been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with possession of an hallucinogen.

Sheriff Donald Thompson said Leroy A. Mitchell Jr., 23, was arrested by Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks and Deputy David Souther when he and a companion were checked out while walking along CCC Highway-E, four miles northeast of Washington C.H. at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

The Sheriff's department stated that the man was charged after a quantity of marijuana was found on his person. Mitchell is presently being held in the Fayette County jail under $1,000 bond pending a hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

When a bereaved family makes its first call at the funeral home for arrangements, usually they are grief stricken, perhaps physically exhausted, frightened, not knowing what to expect or what is expected of them. It is a most difficult time for the family. We trust that these 'open letters' will provide some advance knowledge of funeral arrangements to ease the burden.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick
